ABOUT NEIGHBORS TOGETHER

Neighbors Together is a community engagement program of Atlanta Neighborhood Development Partnership. Each year community leadership graduates work to change their neighborhoods from the inside out. Since its inception in 1983, NeighborWorks Week is an annual week of service that showcases how, together with residents, the NeighborWorks network strengthens communities. Held during the first full week in June, NeighborWorks Week also celebrates our collective impact as a network. ANDP is one of 250 Chartered Members of the NeighborWorks Network and develops, finances, and advocates for affordable housing at scale that promotes racial equity and healthy communities where families thrive.

CELEBRATE SUCCESS

Join us in celebrating NeighborWorks Week and recognizing Ms. Naeema Gilyard who has been

Naeema Gilyard
Nominee: NeighborWorks Dorothy Richardson Award

nominated for NeighborWorks America's Dorothy Richardson National Award for Resident Leadership! Former CLI member, Ms. Gilyard has been a pioneer in the environmental justice movement for decades. Most recently, she successfully advocated for EPA funding to support the installation of air monitors to collect data on hazardous pollutants in her South Fulton community caused by illegal dumping, trash burning, and truck traffic from the increase in industrial warehouses.

This event is coordinated and led by a team of metro Atlanta neighborhood leaders who have participated in NeighborWorks America's National Community Leadership Institute. This team includes Opal Baker, Taryn Bell, Ron Davis, Attania Jean-Funny, and Stephanie Stephens. Learn more about the team at www.andpi.org/nt.
